FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JEFFERIES TO HOST 2016 GLOBAL HEALTHCARE CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 1, 2016 – Jefferies today announced that it will host its 2016 Global Healthcare Conference June 7-10 in New York.

Following the success of the firm's 2015 conferences in New York in June and London in November, this event will include over 2,500 attendees and feature an extensive range of nearly 400 public and private healthcare companies across the biopharmaceuticals, life sciences, healthcare services, healthcare IT and medical technology sectors. This global gathering of leading industry executives, as well as institutional, private equity and venture capital investors, will address near- and long-term investment opportunities driving the global healthcare industry.

The four day conference will be comprised of company presentations, Q&A breakout sessions and thematic panels featuring industry experts and corporate leaders addressing timely sector topics. Company management teams and investors will also have the opportunity to participate in one-on-one and small group meetings. Panel topics include Key Health Policy Trends, Strategic Positioning of New Medical Products and an Election Debate Panel featuring Tucker Carlson, Co-host, FOX and Friends Weekend & Editor-in-Chief, The Daily Caller and Paul Begala, Political Analyst and Commentator, CNN.

Jon Santemma, Global Head of Healthcare Investment Banking at Jefferies, commented, "As one of the largest and most dynamic events in the sector, Jefferies' global healthcare conference provides institutional investors with a venue to identify new opportunities and themes across the broader healthcare sector, and at the same time provides corporate management teams with a forum to interact with strategic financial partners and shareholders. The Jefferies Global Healthcare conference further demonstrates Jefferies' commitment and dedication to the companies in this important and evolving industry and to creating valuable insights and other opportunities for our institutional clients."
